Module 3: Context, Examples and Constraints

Context and Few-Shot Examples

Lesson Notes

KMVTECHUG

Version: 2026

Giving Context

Context is the background the model needs: course unit, country, student level, what you already tried.

Without context, answers may assume the wrong country, level, or exam style.

Few-Shot Examples

Few-shot prompting means giving one or more examples of the pattern you want. Show a sample question and good answer style, then ask for more in the same style.

Constraints and Format

Constraints: Do not invent citations. Use Uganda examples. Maximum 120 words.

Format: bullets, table, email, three paragraphs.

Reflect: Add one constraint and one format line to a prompt you use for study.
